Na semana anterior, vimos como usar o past perfect continuous e o simple past em uma mesma sentença. Para separarmos as orações usamos as conjunções: when; before; after; for; since.

Let's remember:

My friend Pedro had been doing the English exercises WHEN the teacher called him.

↓
past perf. continuous

simple past

My sister had been teaching at the university for 2 years before she left for Australia.

past perf. cont.

↓
s. past

OBSERVE: negative sentences: had not been...(hadn't been...)

ex: My sister hadn't been teaching at the university before she left Australia.

TAREFA 1

Change the affirmative sentences into negative form:

a. I had been living here before you bought the apartment. _____

- b. You had been going home when the policeman stopped you. _____
- c. She had been sleeping before he phoned her. _____
- d. After the teacher invited him, he had been working on the project. _____
- e. It had been raining when the storm got stronger. _____
- f. They had been cooking before the restaurant opened. _____

TAREFA 2

Find out a song with the structure learned, take note of the title of it and copy the excerpt.
